

Slip and Fall Accidents

When a momentary slip leads to lasting harm, you have rights.

Property owners and occupiers must keep their premises reasonably safe. This short ebook explains common hazards, how liability works, what compensation is available, and how Hillstone Law pursues your claim.

Common causes of slip & fall injuries

- Wet or freshly mopped floors without proper warnings
- Spilled food/liquids in stores and restaurants
- Uneven, cracked, or loose flooring and broken stairs
- Obstacles left in walkways or poor housekeeping
- Exposed cords and inadequate lighting
- Damaged sidewalks, curbs, or parking lots

Why these cases are challenging

Hazards can be cleaned or repaired quickly, and insurers often dispute notice and fault. We act fast to secure surveillance footage, incident reports, cleanup logs, and witness statements to prove the dangerous condition and how long it existed.

Compensation you may recover

- Medical treatment, rehabilitation, and future care needs
- Lost wages and reduced earning capacity
- Pain, suffering, and emotional distress
- Out-of-pocket costs and property damage

Special rules for public property

Claims against cities, counties, or other public entities have short deadlines and special procedures. Contact us promptly so we can file the required government claim on time.

How Hillstone Law helps

We document the scene, consult safety experts, and negotiate strongly with insurers. If a fair settlement isn't offered, we file suit and litigate. No upfront fees—clients pay only if we win.
